Teletherapy Assessment Program

Facilitating Teletherapy AAC Assessments

Trying to stay at the forefront in these challenging times, Forbes AAC has developed another AAC first and created the Teletherapy Assessment Program. Several health and government agencies have recommended that people avoid close contact so to best serve the AAC community and keep individuals safe during this crucial assessment process is why we created this program.

Our Teletherapy Assessment Program helps facilitate Teletherapy AAC assessments. We are combining loaner AAC devices with a video conferencing system that allows SLPs and OTs to perform Teletherapy assessments virtually, from anywhere!

How the Program Works

- Inquiry: Speech-Language Pathologists complete the Questionnaire and are connected to an Assistive Technology Specialist (ATS) from Forbes AAC.
- Loaner Devices: ProSlates, WinSlates, Eye-trackers, Switches, Keyguards, Mounts and more are made available from our Device Loan Library.
- Assessment Planning: We work together to discuss the client's needs and assessment plan - we can customize our AAC devices ahead of time.
- Scheduling: Schedule an assessment date and then the devices, accessories and the video conferencing system are shipped directly to the client's residence.
- Facilitating the Assessment: Our ATS will accompany the assessment to coordinate setup of the video conferencing system, devices and accessories.

We'll bring the SLP, OT, Client, Facilitator and ATS together - Virtually

A key component to the program is our video-conferencing system. The system utilizes a high quality video feed that is easy-to-use and HIPPA compliant. The hardware is ready-to-go and easily positioned minimizing connectivity struggles and user frustration.

Remote Control and Screen Sharing

- WinSlate AAC devices can be directly controlled by the SLP or Forbes ATS during the assessment – changing layouts, editing buttons, adjusting access settings can be done via remote control.
- ProSlate AAC devices screen display can be projected remotely to the SLP and ATS during the assessment.
